

LexisNexis® Academic

Uncover in-depth information from premium full-text sources. Around the world, students and researchers spend valuable time and energy gathering information. To make the most of their time, they should have access to one of the best research tools on the market today.

LexisNexis has long been recognized as a leader in the online information world, offering services used by legal, government, and business information professionals and researchers needing quick access to current, comprehensive, authoritative content. LexisNexis Academic, a Web-based service used by more than 1,600 colleges and universities across the country, is a product specially tailored for the academic market.

LexisNexis Academic delivers fast access to thousands of credible sources. In fact, the service features more than 5,800 publications spanning news, legal, financial, medical, and general reference information.

With this service, students and faculty can:

- Monitor current events by following continuously updated wire services or the most current editions of publications from around the world
- Delve into primary or secondary legal sources to perform legal research
- Locate detailed financial information for a public or private company
- Read about medical advances as reported in medical journals, such as the Journal of the National Cancer Institute

Rich content

LexisNexis Academic provides access to the broad, unmatched collection of news, legal, and business content for which LexisNexis is most recognized.

News

Access the full-text of national and regional newspapers, wire services, broadcast transcripts, international news, and non-English language sources. LexisNexis Academic includes more than 350 newspapers from the U.S. and around the world, many of which are available online the same day as publication. More than 300 magazines and journals and over 600 newsletters also are available on LexisNexis Academic.

Business

Search business and financial news, U.S. and international company financial information from government or private sources, market research, industry reports, and actual SEC filings. Sources include Accountancy Age, Consumer Electronics, IPO Reporter, Mergers and Acquisitions Reports, Standard & Poor's Corporate Descriptions, Hoover's Company Reports, Disclosure Reports, international company and stock reports, and more.

Legal

Access primary source material, such as case law, statutes and regulations with LexisNexis Academic. Tap into unparalleled secondary source materials such as legal news or law reviews for background or analysis of a legal topic.

... and more!

LexisNexis Academic now has enhancements that create even greater possibilities for your students and faculty.

Shepard's® Citations Service

LexisNexis Academic previously provided Shepard's Citations Service for Supreme Court cases only. The new service offers expanded coverage of all federal and state courts. This cornerstone of the legal research process is the recognized standard in legal research and is vital for students preparing for law school, as well as patrons who want access to more relevant authorities on legal issues surrounding medical, education, and other professions. Shepard's covers a wide spectrum of primary and secondary sources, including state and federal case law, statutes and constitutional provisions, and regulations.

Country Analysis

Country Analysis is now included at no additional cost.

Gain fast and easy access to over 1 million documents that include economic, business, and political risk information on 154 industries in 190 countries in Europe, Africa, Asia, and Latin America. Content includes news, analysis and statistics on a country's foreign relations, policy, and communications, among other topics, and is relevant for researchers at all levels.
